Description

There comes a point when a house simply stops meeting your needs. Children grow up, routines change and it becomes sensible for each person to have their own space.

This apartment in Montijo could be that very change.

With 123.91 m² of private gross area on the ground floor, it has been designed for a family already feeling cramped in everyday life.

Here every child can have their own bedroom, parents enjoy the privacy of a suite and there remain spaces for the family to gather, host friends, work or study without everything happening in one room.

The ground floor also makes daily routines more practical: arriving with groceries, bringing children inside or leaving several times a day without complications.

With schools, shops and services nearby and only minutes from Forum Montijo and Freeport, perhaps the time has come to give your family what they are starting to miss – more space to grow, while still being close to everything.
